The fast increasing sales make the use of "Cocoas" and "Chocolates" almost as general here as in Europe, and households now welcome these beverages as refreshing, palatable, with good tonic properties, for breakfast, etc. With a desire to satisfy a demand for a superior article, guaranteed by the reputation of a house noted all over the United States for the purity and excellence of its manufactures, the well-known New York confectionery firm of HUYLER'S wish to introduce to the people of St. Louis a COCOA, for breakfast use, and a CHOCOLATE (blue wrapper) for drinking and cooling; and they have only to say that a trial of them means to use them always. Tell your grocer to order any wholesale house, or Dealers, McGovern & Co., wholesale agents.

DRUNKENNESS
Or the Liquor Habit Effectively Cured
by Administering Dr. Haines' Golden Specific.

It can be given in a cup of coffee or tea, or in articles of food, without the knowledge of the patient; it is absolutely harmless, and will effect a permanent and speedy cure, whether the patient is a moderate drinker or an alcoholic wreck. IT NEVER FAILS. Over 100,000 drunkards have been made temperate men who have taken Golden Specific in their coffee without their knowledge, and to-day believe that their drinking of their own free will. The officials of the Court of Criminal Correction seem to be mainly active in the suppression of lottery crimes rather than the suppression of lottery crimes.

VICE-PRESIDENT MORTON calls it a "buffet," but he runs it under a regular bar license, and the beverages served thereat produce the regulation "drunks."

The sidewalk obstructions at Union Market are detrimental to the business of merchants on Broadway and are violations of law. As a matter of justice and of policy they should be removed.

The Police Commissioners have been spurred up to ordering an additional detail of men to take charge of the gamblers. It would not take five minutes to make a case of publishing lottery advertisements if the police were instructed to do so.

It behooves Prosecuting Attorney CLARKE to explain why he suppressed six lottery cases immediately after a case similar to them had been tried and the prisoner convicted. This looks like the protection instead of the prosecution of criminals.

The Ohio Democrats can easily remove all suspicion that the "broad and greasy hand of boodle" has anything to do with the United States Senatorship election by failing to elect a millionaire monopolist. There is plenty of good senatorial timber in Ohio to which not a taint of boodle attaches.

VICE-PRESIDENT MORTON's bar license has been ordered, but not quite destroyed, the old affectionate relations between the Republican party and the prohibitionists. But it and the office which Mrs. FOSTER's husband holds under the administration have utterly ruptured the relations between Mrs. FOSTER and the W. C. T. U.

The Broadway merchants who are laboring to have a new, commodious and ornamental arcade substituted for the present unsightly, inconvenient and shabby Union Market, are working not only in their own, but in the public interest. They deserve all the encouragement and aid that the city officials can give them.

PEOPLE who love their country and flatter themselves that they are good Americans must be mighty unhappy when they read the New York Mail and Express and believe what it teaches. Col. SHEPARD seems to be profoundly convinced that he acquired with his share of the Vanderbilt estate about all the real wisdom, all the genuine loyalty, and all the true religion there is in this country.

ONE of the excellent results of the POST-DISPATCH's revelations of army abuses is the establishment of "canteens" at Jefferson Barracks and other military posts. It was shown that the soldiers were overcharged to an enormous extent by the mess and trader, and the profits hitherto enjoyed by him will remain in the pocket of the soldier through the "canteen" system. That army reform crusade of the POST-DISPATCH has worked wonders.

Mrs. J. ELLEN FOSTER and the Iowa delegates to the W. C. T. U. have modified their views of the dram-shop business.

The Vice-President MORTON went into the opinion is now that a bar is not bad thing when the barkeeper is a good man, a good Republican and near to the power. They botched, succeeded

In disgust, the moment the W. C. T. U. refused to endorse this progressive Republican view of the saloon question.

The later returns from the recent elections in Ohio and Iowa show a mixed result. In Iowa the Democratic Governor is elected, but the other State officers and the majority of the Legislature are Republicans. In Ohio the Governor and the majority of the Legislature are Democrats, while the State officers, except Governor, are Republicans. This result indicates that men and measures, and not blind party fealty, influenced the voters, which is a healthy sign of growing independence.

POSTMASTER GENERAL WANAMAKER in his address to the recent convention of postmasters declared that there is a necessity for a radical reform of the railway mail service, and while he asserted that politics would not affect his course, he declared that he was a dyed-in-the-wool Republican. This ringing in of his politics in talk about reform must be taken as a hint that the Postmaster-General's mind reforming the railway mail service lies in the direction of removing Democrats and appointing Republicans in their places.

In the St. Louis World's Fair Congressional Committee enters into any combination with another city hostile to other claimants it will make a blunder. St. Louis goes into the World's Fair contest on her merits, with malice towards none and with a determination to win by fair play. St. Louis can gain more by avoiding combination than by making it. Combination means the sacrifice of the interests of one or the other party to the deal, and the interests of St. Louis cannot be sacrificed under any circumstances by her representatives.

We do not credit the story that Col. SHEPARD of the Mail and Express offered the Sultan a million dollars to become a Christian. Col. SHEPARD is more afraid of the majority of Christians than he is of the whole Mohammedan world, and he is more unhappy than the Sultan himself over the perilous situation of his beloved country. Besides the rebel armies he believes to be secretly organizing for the overthrow of the Republic, he sees in the Catholic priesthood a lot of "foreign potentates who have foresworn allegiance to the Constitution" and are now trying "to denationalize the whole country and subjugate it to the Pope." Col. SHEPARD has a great eye for traitors. He sees treason in all his fellow-citizens, no matter what church they belong to, if they do not belong to his party, and no matter what party they belong to if they do not belong to his church.

Ridgely and the Post-Office.
From the Globe-Democrat's Washington Correspondence.

The candidate who is coming forward with a rash so near the finish is Mr. Frank Ridgely. The wholesale business community has evidently developed a sudden and deep interest in the postmaster'ship. Mr. Charles Parsons of the State Savings Bank, and some other gentlemen who were active and liberal in the campaign of 1893, are backing Mr. Ridgely with a great deal of earnestness. Ex-Gov. Fletcher says Mr. Ridgely has elements of strength which are not generally known. He considers him formidable.

ANSWERS TO CORRESPONDENTS.
T. H.—The priest to Pope's Theater are published in the advertising columns every day.

B. S.—United States half-dollars of 1892, 1893, 1894 and 1898 are not at a premium at present.

JOHN L. Sullivan is the only pugilist of that name who has ever held the championship belt.

NINETEENTH STREET.—A Chinaman cannot be naturalized under the present laws in any of the States.

JOHN AND MARY.—The comedy, "Peg Woffender," was perfectly good. Ready, Emperor William of Germany is a grandson of Queen Victoria of England, his mother being Victoria, his father Prince of Wales.

F. C. M.—Louis James has made no arrangements as yet for his appearance in this city.

A. B. C.—If the lady recognized the young man as her father, she is perfectly proper. The lady who with a gentleman is introduced has the right to ask him to her list of acquaintances, or to ignore his existence after the introduction.

SUBSCRIBER.—The proper dress for a gentleman is a dark suit, low cut, low cut and black trousers. If the rule is not to be broken, the gentleman should wear a dark suit, low cut, low cut and black trousers.

J. S.—Address it to the first office of the Post-Dispatch, 613 Olive street, St. Louis, Mo.

SUBSCRIBER.—The increase in population cannot be estimated until the next census is taken. The "percentage of increase in value of property" in this city during the last decade, concerning which you ask, cannot be calculated without specifying some particular piece of property. The increase is based on the returns of total assessed valuation.

ACCOMMODATING GUESTS.

PLANS FOR NEW HOTELS TO RECEIVE VISITORS TO THE WORLD'S FAIR.

How Those Who Come to St. Louis to Attend the Columbus Jubilee Will Be Received—Plans for Monster Exposition Hotels Drawn Up—Some Novel Features of Construction.

It is a candidate for the St. Louis Fair that the future in respect to so much work in so quiet a manner as St. Louis. The proceedings of the principal committees, such as the Finance Committee, the Congressional Committee, the Committee on State Action, and many others, have been made public, but some of the committees have been quietly to work, and the only result of their labors when they can be used with the greatest effect. When the Committee of Promotion appointed by Congress meets, an exhibit of what St. Louis is prepared to do for the comfort and convenience of visitors will be laid before it that will not only astonish its rivals, but will take its friends by surprise.

Much has already been said and more will probably be said in the future in respect to hotel accommodations, and it is an open secret that both Chicago and New York will present in the strongest manner their alleged advantages over St. Louis in this respect. Even with the present accommodations the advocates of St. Louis express themselves as perfectly competent to compete with either city, but it is the intention of those having the management of the St. Louis campaign to demonstrate to Congress that this city is not only as well off in respect to hotel accommodations as any of its competitors, but can offer advantages far superior.

With this object in view a number of gentlemen connected with the Executive Committee have had drawings made for several monster hotels, to be erected near the Exposition grounds, have entered into contracts with a number of Eastern capitalists to build these hotels in this city, and will be able to present every assurance of better than has ever been taken care of better than has ever been taken care of before any previous Exposition.

The Philadelphia Centennial, the great mass of visitors were accommodated in structures built for the purpose, and the Executive Committee of the St. Louis campaign is determined to do better than that. A number of the St. Louis committee some time ago entered into correspondence with several capitalists of the company that built the great Atlas Hotel near the Exposition grounds, and ascertained that they were willing to build a hotel only be willing to erect such finer buildings should the fair be held here, but would also be willing to subsume in the future for the assistance of the Executive Committee in obtaining a site.

THE PROPOSED BUILDING MATERIAL.
Objection was raised to constructing a wooden building, but the Executive Committee is so import a quantity of California redwood and use this exclusively. The advantage of this material is that it is practically unburnable. Ninety per cent of the residences in San Francisco, a city particularly closely built, are of redwood, and yet their insurance rates are as low as in any large city in the country. The Executive Committee of the St. Louis campaign is determined to do better than that. A number of the St. Louis committee some time ago entered into correspondence with several capitalists of the company that built the great Atlas Hotel near the Exposition grounds, and ascertained that they were willing to build a hotel only be willing to erect such finer buildings should the fair be held here, but would also be willing to subsume in the future for the assistance of the Executive Committee in obtaining a site.

One of the plans for a monster hotel was proposed by the late Andrew McKimley. It was to consist of an entire revolution of the hotel, with a central tower, and a series of wings radiating from it. The hotel was to be built on a hill, and the wings were to be built on the slopes of the hill. The hotel was to be built on a hill, and the wings were to be built on the slopes of the hill.

A BRILLIANT AFFAIR.

MRS. CHARLES H. BAILEY'S RECEPTION AND MISS EMMA BAILEY'S DEBUT.

The Handsome Residence Thronged With Matrons and Maidens—The Salons Beautifully Decorated—Mrs. B. F. Hammett's Reception and Miss Guy Hammett's Introduction—The Costumes—Society News and Gossip.

RS. CHAS. H. BAILEY'S handsome home was thronged yesterday afternoon by the hostess of St. Louis society circles, the occasion being the presentation to her friends of her daughter, Miss Emma Bailey, who has just returned from her studies abroad. Over six hundred invitations were issued to both matrons and maidens, and the salons, gallied decked with flowers, presented a brilliant appearance.

The hostess was very handsome in an all-black toilette of fine black lace, with diamonds sparkling upon her bodice and in her hair.

Mrs. Ramsey wore old-rose and blue Chene silk brocade, with Pompadour corsage filled with black lace, and a diamond brooch at the throat by a brooch studded with diamonds.

Miss Bailey, a beautiful young girl, tall and stately like her mother, with brilliant complexion and dark hair and eyes, wore a Parisian gown of crepe lisse delicately embroidered in white, rosebuds scattered all over it, and a border of roses at the bottom, the bodice made in pompadour style, a diadem of pearls about her throat and her hands filled with white roses.

Miss Papin also wore pure white silk embroidered tulle, with garniture of duchess lace and pearls and carried white roses.

Among the guests Mrs. Ernest Wells wore a handsome gown of plum-colored velvet, richly trimmed with gold passementerie.

Mrs. Charles E. Clark wore black Lyons velvet, with garniture of duchess lace and pearls.

Mrs. Wm. Ware wore black and white striped tulle, with garniture of duchess lace and pearls.

A Crazy Convict's Escape—Ida Delmer's Crime—White Cap Threats.
JOLIET, Nov. 15.—Frank Dutcher, an insane convict in the Illinois Asylum, wrenched the bars from his window and escaped. This is the third time he has escaped and each time he has committed some crime for which he was sent back to Joliet penitentiary.

Ida Delmer, alias Ida Schmidt, a handsome young German girl, arrived here yesterday to serve a two-year sentence for larceny. She was the sweetheart of Louis Lingg, the anarchist, who blew his head off just before the hour for his execution arrived. After his death she disappeared until recently, when she was arrested for stealing jewelry and dresses from the house where she was employed.

GALLESBURG, Nov. 15.—Two attempts have been made by white caps to burn the residence of G. A. Lawrence, an attorney here. Bundles of combustible material were found in his barn and under his house. Letters have been received threatening the dead and signed "White Caps." The premises are being watched.

AN AMERICAN SISTERHOOD.

Miss Kate Drexel's Motive in Becoming a Sister of Mercy.

By Telegram to the Post-Dispatch.
PHILADELPHIA, Pa., Nov. 15.—It has been authoritatively announced here that Miss Kate Drexel, known in religion as Sister Catherine, will not remain in the Order of Mercy. She is merely making her novitiate in that order so that she may become a nun and found a new order. The sisterhood she will establish, it is said, will be distinctly American, and it will have for its object missionary and charitable work among Indians. Miss Drexel, it is said, will build a house for the proposed order somewhere in the See of Omaha. Bishop O'Connor's diocese, and will endow it handsomely out of her private fortune. She will obtain recruits from the various orders to assist her in her work, and will establish a novitiate for new members. She has already adopted a habit for the new order. It resembles the Mercy habit slightly. The veil is shorter and the dress is made without the regulation train. The material is coarser than that now used in most of the habits of the different orders. The members of the new order will be expected to do all kind of domestic work in addition to educating Indians. The name has not yet been decided upon.

A BARBED WIRE TRUST.

MEETING OF THE LEADING MANUFACTURERS HELD IN NEW YORK.

The Necessity of a General Combination—Concentration of the Interests in the Industry—Alleged Cutting Down of Profits—The New Company's Capital Placed at $12,000,000—J. W. Gates to Be President.

By Telegram to the Post-Dispatch.
NEW YORK, Nov. 15.—There has been for a long time considerable talk concerning a "barbed wire trust," but while there have been combinations between certain firms and the representatives of certain other companies have declared that a general combination was necessary in order to protect themselves from loss because of the great competition; there had not been anything like a general conference on this subject until yesterday morning at the Gilsey House, in rooms six and eight of that hotel assembled the representatives of the largest interests in the barbed wire trade in the United States. Among others were present H. S. Chisholm, and C. B. Beach of the H. P. Nail Co. of Cleveland, O.; Messrs C. F. Washburn, C. G. Washburn and Messrs of Worcester, Mass.; S. S. Douglas of the Iowa Barbed Wire Co. of this city; Thos. Jopping of the American Wire Co. of Cleveland; E. S. Page of the Cleveland Rolling Mill; F. W. Roebeling of Trenton, N. J.; and J. W. Gates of St. Louis. The ostensible object of the meeting was the regulation of prices, but the real object was to form a trust. It has been known for some time that the industry was not as profitable as it was three years ago, a large proportion of the seventy-five manufacturers not even running their machines. Since the beginning of the decrease in business the larger corporations have been absorbing the smaller ones until, now, only one-half of the factories, which, when the demand for barbed wire began ran their machinery on double time, are in existence. The concentration is still going on, or rather was going on, until yesterday morning, when it was decided that the already talked of Federal Steel Co. shall be an assured fact, and will be in its operations in the special industry.

A FORMIDABLE TRUST.
The new company will have a capital of from $10,000,000 to $12,000,000 and it will be distributed in this way: Six or seven million of dollars will represent the cash value of the plants to be taken into the company and the balance will be issued for the purpose of running expenses. The company will take in all the barbed wire, plain wire, wire rod and wire nail makers, in the country on an equitable basis, in the proportion in which their property is of value in the Federal company. Of course, as has been the history of the formation of all similar trusts, the companies which are now concerned in the new trust are very anxious to have the public understand that it is not a trust, but an endeavor by the manufacturers to reduce the cost of manufacture by running the best plant to an extent sufficient to supply the demand for barbed wire and wire nails, to reduce the expense of selling and to maintain a uniform steady price for the product. The attempt to control the market of plain wire and wire rods, they say, is for the purpose, of course, of preventing competition with the barbed wire, so that the milk in the cocoanut is that the trust makes this proposition to the public: "Either use barbed wire or none at all." Another statement of the organizing company which savors of a trust is that there will be no marked advance in prices, and that it is likely there will be no change in the market price of barbed wire and wire nails at the time the company begins operations, the concern which are interested in the movement saying that "it is far more desirable to make money by economy and reduction of expenses than by inviting competition by an excessive advance."

THE DEPRESSION IN PRICES.
At present the depression in prices is due to the fact that there is a glut of the manufacturers of barbed wire who were in existence six years ago have been crowded out of business. There have been many fluctuations in prices, but in the main the tendency is downward, and jobbers have been unable to secure barbed fence wire at a price which would enable them to supply their customers without loss. The result has been that though some jobbers have at times been enabled to make a great deal of money, at other times they have invested large amounts in stocks which have yielded no profit, and the promoters of the trust declare that whatever else may be the result of the combination it will at least secure regularity in the prices. All these points were discussed at yesterday's meeting. There was no attempt at organization, but it was decided that a meeting for this purpose should be held in Chicago next week. The organization will be completed, and the Federal Steel Co. will begin its existence. The President of the new combination will be, in all probability, J. W. Gates of St. Louis.

THE CABLE & WESTERN SWITCH AT SIXTH STREET DECLARED ILLEGAL.

And Mr. George D. Capen Says It Must Go Immediately—Street Commissioner Burnett Wants to Temporarily—City Counselor Bell Says It Is in Violation of the Law—Mr. Blakely Makes an Aggressive Defense.

HERE is a fight on between Mr. George D. Capen, agent for the Equitable Life Insurance Co. on one hand and the Cable & Western road and the incorporators of the Central & Western road on the other. Mr. Walter J. Blakely has taken up the gauntlet for Mr. Capen and come forward as the champion of the Cable & Western.

The cause of the trouble is the eastern terminus of the Cable & Western road on Sixth and Locust streets. Mr. George D. Capen, as agent for the insurance company, has charge of the Equitable Building, and is consequently supposed to look after its interests. Some time ago he sent to the Street Commissioner a letter stating in substance that the switch of the Cable & Western road was outside of the boundaries defined by the ordinance granting the franchise and was a constant nuisance to the occupants of the building and to the public in general. The switch in question runs past the western curb line some feet into Sixth street, and every time a train on the cable road is reversed the grip-cars are run down across the crossing, stopping there for a time to reverse the grips and run the cars back. This constant switching obstructs the crossing and causes much inconvenience to all persons desiring to go north or south on the west side of Sixth street. Mr. Capen says that the nuisance has materially injured the business of the Equitable Building, and some of the occupants have threatened to move out unless the obstruction is removed.

Instead of the west line, it could as well be argued that the Cass Avenue line should go to the corner of Sixth and Locust, or the Olive street line could go to the center of Fourth street at Olive. Mr. Bell's decision was that the road had no legal right to go past the west line of Sixth street. Mr. Burnett thought that it would be a good idea to suggest that in the new ordinance for the same road now in the Council under the title of Central & Western, a clause be inserted obliging the terminus at Sixth street more definitely, and that the new ordinance should be so worded as to give the Cable & Western road a right of way in view of the fact that the road was in the hole financially and the Cable & Western road was in the hole financially and the Cable & Western road was in the hole financially.

Yes, I read the letter of Mr. Capen complaining to the Street Commissioner of the nuisance caused by the terminus of the Cable & Western road on Sixth and Locust streets. This letter and its contents bring a broad smile to the faces of those who have memorized the ordinance granting the franchise to the Cable & Western road. They remember that none have been more active than Mr. Capen, in the past, in advocating projects before the Assembly which were argued against as a nuisance by property-holders. The iron mountain surface tracks at Fourth street and Chouteau avenue, the Iron Mountain Elevated road up St. Charles street, each found an ardent advocate in Mr. Capen. When I was in the council, I was regarded by the members as one who reached for all in sight, and I have heard him say in the committee-room that he did not deny that he wanted the earth, if he could get it, and saw no reason to deny it. I heard him say, moreover, that property owners on St. Charles street—merchants principally—were arguing against the proposed road as a nuisance, and that he would not let them have an elevated road pass his place of business and even have a depot in front of it. Moreover, he was the champion of the proposed Union avenue steam cable, which was to be fed by the Cable & Western, and thus perpetuate the latter.

All these reasons make me say, therefore, that his complaint is an amusing one. For three or four years ago, when the Cable & Western was in front of his office no nuisance did he see or hear of. He was not a nuisance to himself, and he was not a nuisance to others. He was not a nuisance to himself, and he was not a nuisance to others. He was not a nuisance to himself, and he was not a nuisance to others.

Browning, King & Co.

O yet we trust that somehow good will be the final goal of ill.

I will—if you take counsel of your experience and our words of warning! We started out in November to make things hum for the remainder of 1889. Not in our advertisements—the limits of newspaper notices are far too narrow for us—but here in the store. And things are humming—with a vengeance!

We spare extravagant expressions concerning them. We don't even aspire to be embryo humorists, and adopt any I'd-like-to-be-funny-if-I-could sort of talk about 'em. You can't load honey with sweetness. Can you? And 'twould be equally useless to bandy praises of the handsomest and worthiest satin-lined CHINCHILLA OVERCOATS at $15 ever seen in this or any other town. Yes, the handsomest!—the worthiest! Many of you have told us so yourselves.

Look! Look everywhere. We ask for nothing better than that you shall come and look at our stock of Fall and Winter CLOTHING and FURNISHINGS, especially if you've looked everywhere else before you come. We're confident what the result 'll be. For there's something besides the low prices that counts!

TO WEAK MEN.

awer directly why the switch should not be changed, but try to explain why Mr. Capen was spoken in regard to the matter, and expressed himself very pointedly and clearly on the subject. He said: "I don't want to ask anything that is not just and fair, but I do want that switch moved away from there. Take the case right on its own merits and judge it accordingly. Here is a switch which runs out over the building line contrary to the law. It obstructs the street, and is a nuisance to everybody passing by. They have their wheels out under the middle of the street, but we don't object to that, but that switch has no business there. I represent the Equitable Life Insurance Co., which has a $100,000 pocketbook and am doing all I can to induce them to make great improvements here in the building. I want them to change the stairways and put in a whole system of elevators at a cost of something like $50,000, but what is the use of putting up a fine building when people are literally barred out of it by an unlawful and illegal obstruction. That switch must be moved back and if the Street Commissioner won't do it I shall proceed to the courts and have it done in that way. There is a petition being circulated now among the merchants along Sixth street which will be presented soon to urge the removal of this switch. As to Mr. Walter Blakely's statement, he is talking nonsense. I say jump on George D. Capen, the Lindell road or the Olive street road, or any other road which

SIT OFF A LIVE DUCK'S HEAD.

The Brutal Performance of a Drunkard in Brooklyn.

By Telegram to the Post-Dispatch.
NEW YORK, Nov. 15.—John McCormack, two hours after his release on Wednesday from Raymond street Jail, Brooklyn, where he had served a term of ten days for drunkenness, was in a Crow Hill saloon and rapidly filling up. He remarked to some of the loungers in the saloon that he was hungry enough to bite off the head of a live duck. Some one questioned his ability to perform the feat, and he instantly bet the drinks for the crowd that he would do it. A billiard ball was produced and McCormack, picking it up bit off its head, and was in the act of drinking the blood from the neck of the fowl, when a policeman came in and arrested him. Police Justice Kennan sent him to the penitentiary yesterday for six months.
